[From the New York Tribune.] We have received a pumphlet just published a London by Mr. Foote, recently Senator from concessed in the robel Congress at Richmond. The Vice President elect (Hon. Andrew Johnsen, of Tennessee) I am. (Then turtule to the Senate, he said): Senators: I am here the cavity as a chosen Vice President of the United States, and as such, by constitutional provision I am made the presiding officer of this body. I therefore present myself here in obedience to the high beheats of the American people to discharge a constitutional duty, and not presumpnessly to thrust myself in a position so exand containing an account of his ellorts to bring about peace. Mr. Foote's last speeches to the rebel Congress, and his subsequent escape from the Confederacy, have attracted such gen-eral attention that his statements will be reelved with interest The following is the substance of the pamphict:
Mr. Foole begins with reminding his contilinents that when they sent him to Congress it Richmond they were familiar with his former 'devotion to the Federal Union," and his "zenious and subending opposition to everything in the shape of nationalism." They knew that he refused "all connection with the perilons scheme of secession in 1851," and that, in 1860, he had as little in common with the boasted secession leaders as any other public man in the South; that he had carnestly opposed all the includent steps which had led to the fearful state of things then existing; that he had openly denounced the conduct and motives of nearly all the prom-inent leaders in the secession movement; and that he had never fully acquiesced in the promoral courage unprecedented in the world's history, ingloriously vacated their seats in that be dy, and (doubtless in accordance with a plan previously agreed upon among them) hastened to the city of Montgomery, framed a new Constituti nof Government, and taken all the needful steps for the bringing on of a war, without the immediate commencement of which they well knew their scheme of di-union would turn outto be altogether impracticable."

In the rebel Congress Mr. Foote claims to have clwave made "a firm and unvielding opposition to the shameful efforts of Mr. Davis and his servitors to undermine the public liberties and establish a despotism on their rulns." "At let gth (three months ago) it became evident to every man of discernment" with whom Mr. Foote held intercourse, "that unless an early and an henorable peace could be speedily effected the South would be inevitably ruined." Mr. Foote them after freely consulting with the best and then, after freely consulting with the best and wisest men he met, resolved to introduce his well-known peace resolutions in the rebel Con-gress. His resolutions being rejected by that body, he deemed it necessary to make another seeing that "the Confederate Government, n all its departments, was most rapidly lish he public confidence and becoming positivel dious," and that "the Confederate financial syem was clearly in a state bordering upon coi apse," Mr. Foote set ont from Richmond abou empowering her to return to their residence in Nashville. On reaching the Potomae, in Westnorcland county, he addressed a letter to Thomes S. Bocock, Speaker of the rebel House of Sepresentatives, dated December 2th, stating hat he in ended to visit the city of Washington for the purpose of a certaining whether or not is practicable to obtain for the people of the outdersite States an early and an honorable cace," and that this mission was "cordially nctioned by some of the wisest and most vir-ous men now upholding the Confederate use" in a postscript to this letter Mr Foote where he remained in military custody for near y a week, when he was liberated on a writ o ne at once resumed his original scheme of seeking access to the Washington authorities. This and received from him a letter to Secretary Seward, dated January 80, 1865. In this letter Mr. Foote, after having again referred to his

(From the Richmond Examiner, March 13.1 THE CONCENTRATION BEFORE RICHMOND THE BEBELS ANTICIPATING THE FAILURE OF GRANT'S ANACONDA TACTICS.

All the ught of peace is for the present-to us General Sherman's expression—"disposed of, and we are already in the midst of the spring campaign, which promises to be a most active out. While Sherman is still struggling northward, though under considerable difficulties, to co-operate with Grant before Richmond, it is no co-operate with Grant before Richmond, it is not unreasenable to conclude that the business of our community is nothing but war until that present peril is disposed of. And it now seems likely to be so in a manner tolerably satisfactory. We cannot indulge the enemy with any minute information concerning the events which are passing in North and South Carolina, but the intelligence stready and likely of the likely of th passing in Auria and South Carolina, but the intelligenceathready published officially is enough to show that the Army of Tennessee has felt the wholesome influence and strong impulsion of their tayorite leader, lately reinstated in command. A wide, and, in all probability, impussable interval separates Sherman yet from the Army operating before Richmond and Petersburg; and General Grant, who depended, as a large of the control of the co Indifer army operating before Elchmond and Petersburg: and General Grant, who depended, as usual, upon co-operation from the South and from the West, can do nothing but hold his hands and wait. It is the story of last spring repeated. In May of last year, if Butler had done the part assigned to him on the south side, and Hunter in the West, General Grant entertains no doubt that he would have entered Elchmond in triumph about nine months ago. So now, if he fails again to take possession of the capital within the time he has allowed himself for that operation, he can still stay it is because Sheridan failed to come down. Such is the uncertainty of human affairs.

There are two cheering and enconraging features in the situation at present. One is the prompiliade and liberality with which the farmers are coming forward with their gappiles to feed the army. They only needed to be assured that their contributions would really go to the soldiers and not be wasted and squandered by post commissaries (who have somehow an unpopular name among the country people), and they were ready to pour in the wealth of their agricultural produce with full hands. Some very noble examples have been given of this patriole liberality, the memory of which shall not be lost in the future. It will come sub-tuntually in aid of the regular operations of the Commissory Department, and moke it certain not be lost in the future. It will come sub-tan-tially in aid of the regular operations of the Commissary Department, and make it certain that at least the army of General Lee shail not be starved out of Virginia. Another good and wholesome feature is that some of our general officers are tired of that bullying system of the commy, which the Confederate Government has hitherto most meekly been a with—of treating Confederate privaces of war as circularly. cefederate prisoners of war as criminals and ing nomuders, when the latter have been shot down in the act of committing outrages meantherized by the laws of war. General Hampton administered a wholesome lesson to the ruffiam Sherman in this matter. Sherman has been encouraged by long impunity, while he traversed the unprotected counties of Georgia and South Carolina, not only pilinging, but burning and destroving Loures and outraging helpiess people at his pleasure. He seems to have almost reached the couchision—and not quite without some show of reason—that our Government had abandoned all claim to the rights of helliger-cuts, and all privileges under the laws of war, cuts, and all privileges under the laws of war, and had accepted for itself and for us the posi-tion of criminals evading and postponing as long as possible the day of lawful retribution for our crimes, but no more presuming to exer-cise retaliation than a band of skulking outlaws would pretend to retailate, as belligerents, upon the Sheriff and the posse constates. General Hampton has put an end to this delusion; and when Sherman writes to him, with his usual affectation of superiority, that he understands twenty-seven of his "foragers" have been "inurdered," and that he has ordered a similar number of prisopers in his trans, "to be disposed of dered," and that he has ordered a similar number of prisoners in his hands "to be disposed of in like manner," Hampton sternly replies by reminding him that there is such a thing as the law of war—that he (Sherman) and the troops under his command, have habitually violated that law by "firing the dwellings of those citizens whom they have robbed"—that account zens whom they have robbed"—that accordingly he (General Hampton) has ordered his men to shoot down any maranders found so employed as if they were wild beasts; and that in the meantime he holds fifty six of Sherman has the 27th. General Sherman at that I, "I hold about a thousand pris m ra, aptured in various ways, and can stand it as captured in various ways, and can stand it as long as you." The prisoners, captured in various ways, of course include such non-combatant Confederates as he has thought proper to arrest; and he thus signifies his lutention to "murder" those peaceful citizens dragged from their ewn hearths in retailation for the execution of his thievish "foregers" caught burning houses. Thus he boasts that he can stand it as long as the other. Since the date of the letters, indeed, our forces have captured about two deed, our forces have captured about two cousand Federal soldiers in fair fight; but tobably General Sherman means to make the balance even by picking up a number of old men, or even old women, and making them an-swer Humptou's murders "to the extent of life for life." There would be nothing new in this, for Ihe Yankee Wyid in North Carolina had the and notify General Pickett that he would retaliate upon them whatever should be inflicted upon Confederate deserters, whom he chose to call his enlisted soldiers. This is a most revolting and hornible kind of contest to enter upon; but if General Sherman chooses to provoke it, there is no possibility of evading it with safety, and General Hampton, at least, is apparently not the man to evade it. He seems to be aware that even for the sake of humanity he must go through with the repulsive and hide me tage. through with the repulsive and hide us task, and that the real harbarian is he who makes a pretext of humanity to avoid that duty, and so leaves his own soldiers and his own fellow citi-There is reason also to believe that other commanding officers in the Confederate service are tired of the old system of enduring every contrage to their men 'for the sake of humanipression. I can team it as long as you, indi-cat a precisely the whole philosophy of the the-property and practice of retaliation. If one of two belligenests commence the system of outrage unjustified by the laws of war, and the other is atraid to retaliate, or stops short of full and sufficient retribution, then the belligerent who an stand it the longest must be left muster of the situation at last.

From this better understanding of the real dictates of humanity, and from the excellent pirit shown by our citizens throughout the and in sharing their produce with those brave drawn for the campalgu on which we now en

Berns Fornd it a Har Mow .- On Friday norring of lest week, a gentleman residing a couple of miles from Fairmount, West Virginia, while engaged in pitching hav from a mow to feed his sheep, suddenly stirred up a pair of graybacks, who had crawled into the mow and oncealed themselves beneath the hay. They presented their revolvers, and ordered the disturber of their slumbers to give no alarm until they had time to get away. After extorting a promise to this effect, they permitted the farmer o go to his honse-some haif mile off-white they decamped. In a short time a squad of soldiers was on the spot and pursued them as far as it was possible to track them in the light enew which by this time only covered the ground in some places. They both acknowledged being regular rebel soldiers. One gave his name as Sims, and said he was a stranger in that part of the county. The other was recogpized by the farmer as a fellow named Martin. REBELS SHOT. - One night last week Corpoal Barthelow, with a squad of soldiers, went to the house of Robert Davis, who lives near Koon's rnn, West Virginia, in search of some rebeis known to be in that neighborhood. As the boys approached the house, two rebel soldiers ran out with a view to escape. One of them jumped from a very high porch and was shot before he tonched the ground. The ball entered the knee, shattering it so badly that amputation will be necessary. His name is Jonathan Macon. Howar raised by William K. Russeil, who was killed some time ago. The other rebel was shot through the body; but notwith tanding, he sneeeeded in making his escare for the time. He was found the next day at a neighboring honse. The bnliet entered his side and passed entirely through his body. It is said he cannot recover. He is said to have formerly resided about Beverly. Hie name is Abraham Lonk.

NARROW Escare.-On Saturday morning last, an ambulance, containing a lady and three gentiemen, attempted to cross the creek on the bridge near Lookent Montain, though the bridge w s under wat r, the driver expecting to rive on it. He m' sed the road and drove into the creek. The wagon commenced to sink in the mud almost immediately. The occupants of the ambulance cut a hole in the top of it and clambered to the top. Two of the party could ewim, but the third man and lady were compelied to remain in their nacomfortable position until reseued by two soldiers, who got a log and swam to the ambuiance with it, when the lady got on it, and was brought ashore, and afterward the man was relieved in the same manner Both of the horses were drowned.

An Klerman in Love — A number of years ago two menageries were laid up for the winter in a storehouse on the bank of the canal at Fittsburg. Here Hunnibal was for the first time thrown into the society of Queen Anne. They were fastened side by side, and an lumediste attachment spring up between them. It was a case of love at tirst sight, for the moment Queen Anne was brought into Hannibal's presence she ran her trunk into his mouth, the elephant style of kissing. All winter they were continually careasing each other, and their for eleven days he retneed to touch a morsel of food, the only nourishment that he received during that time being whiskey and water. during that time being whiskey and water.

By dint of a continuous awaying or surging against his fastening he succeeded in breaking loose on the twelfth day, when he took entire possession of the establishment. The animals in the cages were terribly frightened, dishlag against their bars and tilling the air with their howis and shrieks. Hannibal ranged around the building, reased on hind feet and endeavored to tear down the the rafters in the ro f with his trunk, but molested none of the animals in the meantime a large force of men were were inserted in his cars and shoulders, and alter great difficulty he was "hobbled" and case, when the enstomary discipline was applied with the usual satisfactory results. FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1865.

We said that the Democrat was for a party organization in Kentucky based exclusively on the old prejudices in favor of slavery, and the Democrat replies that we are striving to get up a party organization based exclusively on the abolition of slavery in the State. It is true, that, in view of the altered condition of things brought about by the operation of the war in a hundred ways and by the measures of the Federal Government, we have expressed our conviction that the truest policy of our State is to accept the amendment proposed at Washington to the Federal Constitution, and that we hope for the election of delegatee to the next Legislature who will adopt it. We have said, too, that our next elections will evidently turn mainly if not entirely upon the question of the adoption of the amendment. but we have not said that we are in favor of their turning entirely upon that question. We think that there are various other matters that should not be forgotten. While the editor of the Democrat, as we said, is for an organization based exclusively on the old prejudices in favor of slavery, we are for the election of men, who, among other measures of policy, will vote for the acceptance of the amendment to do away with the nominal slavery in Kentucky. He is for getting up a party to rest wholly upon old prejudices in favor of what has ceased to exist except in name, or what, if it exists at all, is worse than nothing, while we are for supporting a policy, which, without any agency of ours, time and change and circumstance render expedient. He is for adapting political action wholly to a condition of things that has passed away and can never return, while we are for taking into consideration what the present condition of the State and nation imperatively requires. We have no dread of the term abolitionist when applied to us for being in favor of the recognition, for good and pressing reasons, of the nonexistence of what is already abolished or worse than abolished.

The Democrat says that we opposed him when he exhorted the people of Kentucky to It slavery alone in the Territories. Yes, we were not, like him, in favor of permitting a 1 of ptople, however small, who might s ced lu first scram ling into a Territory, to fx the statue of slavery in such Territory for all time or or an indefinite time. We were right then ust as we are right now. The conc't on of things was va-thy different tuen from what it is now. Our neighbor was then, when peace regued, and when avery was unstriken, undem "hed by war, in favor of permitting any little band of an in adventuers from an abilition State late a te ritory to rule clavery out of it in to territorial condition, while we, at this time when was has wrought the mightiest changes I on the cent nent and rendered slavery an and mil or a curse or a nullity in Kentu-ky, are stely for recognizing that great fact-simply for accepting a fact, with is and will be a fact w other we accept it or not. We may well accept destiny, in whatever shape it comes m dati g ourselves to it as best we

The ed or of the D mocrat wants to know why Il mavery is dead in Kentu kv, we don't latka e. One reason is, that, if slavery is d ad in K. . . ky, we are for cutting the State lose from a dead body. To have a rotten carcar tied to a State isn't exactly h althy. It cannot be dispere that no person is now practicalv a slave in Kentucky that I refers being free. Alig that hoose to go, and, on a wount of the in the relations with their masters' fis 'es, a e a le to take off whitever they choose teal. Our neighbor says, 'If Kenthe Con intion and laws do not ir tect charge, west other property do they prote 1? Let us abolih money and than servants." But we think that they are a good deal more secure. To be sure the rebuls take money and property at discretion, where they can go, but the slaves are not only taken at discretion by the rebels where the r ls can go, b t have legs to run away with when they like, where the rebels can't go, beerunting away with a great many other things, and besides being able, and in most cases w g, to render themselves a pest while t stay. Let the slaves be recognized as tree. a dil on we can get white lab r, but now we ve settler white nor black There never has t a tiee, be the ere tin of Kiutikv into to when there was a tenth part much d in obtaining labor of any sort as there Is pow. Indeed the diff netv is in most coses an impossibility. And matters ar getting worse and were for the - ve so-ca ed that remain aming us become daily mire idie, or figure, and i solent.

The editor of the Democrat save that we ar not only for getting rid of slavery in this State but for firms an amendment to the Counting tion abol hing " in States ag in a the will of their te le. We are merely for Kontucky's ad It g, so is as her own vote is concerned, the proposed - dm t to the Constitution in order to jr n te her own inte ests and prosperity and welf re and what we have she de ms the welture of the country. Slavery now exists nowhere even nomi ally t of Kentu ky, ca pt in the States in rebellion, and we do not lik that Kentucky is under any ligati u to abstain from any action that e det e p cessary to herrell and the outers and of any romantic regard for what may or may not be the opinions of tates that are struggling not only to con uer er let to su vert the republic. We do not car that she will forego any high and deep victions of her own to meet the views of States with h wantonly and wickedly brough des athen upon slavery within their own bordere he getting up an awful rebellion, the con-6 care of which they must, if they were not striken by judicial blindness, have foreseen make no idea that she will be deterred and an ed from any stern purpose of her own leart and mind into craven submission to the well of States which are turning their slaves into their armies to fight us, and which admit, that, by this policy and others that have been adopted and are to be adopted, slavery is virtually as dead as aught that lived before Noah's ark floated upon the deluge.

Our readers have seen what the Hon. Mr. Foote, late of the rebel Senate, sald in a letter of last January to Secretary Seward about the hopelessness of the Confederate canse and the anxious desire of the people to com back to the Union if assured of a comprehensive amnesty. Now when this fire-and-tow eater, who among the rebels, has long been among the fiercest of the fierce, and whose pluck is unquestionably one of the most ponderous plucks in the Confederacy, thus yields the Confederate cause, how long before we may look for a surrender from those, whose plucks, compared with his, are as a ben's to an ostrich's?

The Confederate papers have repeatedly assured their readers that Sherman was whipped but he wasn't. They now tell the world what is to happen to him hereafter. But if their assertions as to the past are worth nothing, what credit is to be given to what they say as to the

The Richmond Dispatch predicts that the rebel Generals will very soon gobble up Sherman and his army. Some of the rebel Generals may be as great gobblers as ever gobbled with apread tails in barnyards, but they can't gobble the great rebel-queller.

A striking fact, though not a remarkable one, is this the descriers from the Confederate forces come into the Federal lines, but the deserters from the Federal forces rarely if ever go into the rebel lines. Reference to the above card, we will as all times be prepared to exhibit to our friends have been ealered and well-amorted stock. Upon the lath section of the act entiried "An Act amend the several Acts heretofore passed to provide the anciling and esiling out of the national forces," such provides as follows: Such is the experience of thousands. Few enjoy con-Inuous heaith. To what does the occasional invalid atto amend the several Acta heretofore passed to provide for the oricling and calling out of the uniforal foother, which provides as follows:

'That hereafter all persons minstered into the military or haval service, whether as volunteers, substitutes, representatives, or otherwise, shall be credited a the State, and to the wand, township, precinct, or other envisional sub-dist ice, where such persons belong hyactual residences fit such persons belong hyactual residences fit such persons have an actual residence which the United States, and where such persons were or shall be enrolled (if liable to enrollment); and it is hereby made the duty of the Provost Marshall descenal to make such rules and give such instruction to the several Provost Marshalls. Boards of Eurolineut, and Musterling Officers, as shall be necessary for the laitbird entercement or the provisions of this section, to she end that fair and fust credit shall be given to every section of the country. You, in your letter of the 12th of March, ask my epinion on the following points:

First. As to the meaning of the words "actual residence of men offering as recruits.

Becond. Where the "actual residence" of the recruit is in one sub-district, and he is enrolled in a different sub-district, where shall the credit be given?

Third, In cases where the rec uit has no legal domicile or actual residence of the order of the recruit has no legal domicile or actual residence in any enrolment sub district, shall he be callowed to select his locality. tribute his uncertain condition? Not to himself, of course. He lays the biame on the cilmate, perhaps. It is too hot, or too cold, or too damp, or too dry, or too variable. But does he take the proper course to fortify his changes of which he complaine? No. He says, perhaps that only an iron man could bear such great heat, or at least quadruple the capacity of his system to repel all TETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. taken faithfully according to the directions, will so strengthen the stomach, brace the nerves, tone the liver, and regulate and invigorate the whole animal machinery, that the system, instead of being at the mercy of the weather, and liable to be prestrated by every change o emperature, will become case-hardened, as it were, and ty?

I. The first of the above questions may be divided not two parts: First as to the meaning of the words "ac ual residence," and, recordly, as to the propor ode of ascertaining the "actual residence."

It is very difficult to give a test by which the question of actual residence may be determined in each particular case. A few general rules may be given however, my which a wast majo ity of the cases can be readily lettinished. almost impervious to alimate inflaences. A residence onse acquired remains until another is acquired.

4. The place of a man's origin is that of his actual residence until he acquires another.

5. Minors have their actual residence with their parents, guardiags or, if apprenties, with their masters.

6. Adults reside at the places of their dwelling. A man's dwelling is in contradictivetion to his place of his inesters, take, or occupation. He dwells at the place he habitually sleeps or passes his nights.

7. In every country there is more or less population floating like drift. They never expect to remain long at any place, and so thence whenever and wherever the hep of employment may invite, or fancy diesate. Such persons have their actual residence in the community in which they may dwell at the time of the enrolment.

As to the mode of accertaining the actual residence of a recruit the statute gives anotherity to the Provost Marshall General to make such rules and give such inst uctions as will enable the Boards of Eurolment and Mintering Officers to accertain the lacts, and assign the credit accounts to the united man would determine the terminater. A FEW REASONS WHY THE

AMERICAN WATCH IS THE BEST.

It is made on the best principle, while the foreign watch is generally made on no principle at all. The foreign watch is mostly made by women and boys, BY HAND. While their labor is cheap, their work is dear at any price. Such watches are made without plan, and sold without guarantee. They are irregular in construction, and quite as irregular in movement. They are designed only to sell, and the buyer is the party most thoroughly sold. Those who have kept "ancres, few years will appreciate the truth of our statement, THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH.

Instead of being made of several hundred little piece crewed together, the bedy of the American Watch is formed of SOLID PLATES. No iar Interferes with the armeny of its working, and no sudden shock can throw ts machinery out of gear. In riding or any husiness parent, it is all held together as firmly as a single piece of metal. It is just what all machinery should be-1st, ACCURATE, 2d, SIMPLE. 3d, STRONG. 4th. ECONOMICAL.

THE WITHOWS' AND ORPHANS' HOME -It WI'll be remembered that the beautiful and successful series of tableaux recently given at the Masonic Temple was for the purpose of establishing in our city a home for widows and orphans. We are glad to learn that an act of incorporation has since been obtained from the Legislature under which the Home has been properly organized. The Board of Trustees consists of Rev. J. H Heywood and Mesers, M. M. Green, George Davis, Abner Coopar, A G. Munn, A P. Cochran, J. Meeker, and J. L. Danforth; and the officers of the Board are: President. J. H Heywood: Vice-President, M. M. Green; and Secretary and Treasurer, J. L. Danforth. We understand these gentlemen desire to purchase a lot of ground of two or three acres. I leasantly situated in the suburbs of the city, and persons having such to sell are requested to send written proposals to the Secretary, stating the size and location of lot and terms of sale.

In speaking of our excellent and distinguished fellow-citizen, Colonel A. M. Stout, a candidate for the City Attorneyship, we had no intention to institute or intimate any comparison or to disparage or impair the claims of any other gentleman who was or might become a rival candidate. We simply desired to do justice to an excellent and able man, who promptly raised a noble regiment at the beginning of the war, and who, by serving more than three years in the field, where he bled for his bleeding country, had of course lost his fine legal practree in this city and must be unknown peralls to multitudes of our voters. thought that his patriotism should not be

California Petroleum Company, OF NEW YORK. A. C. RICHARDA (late J. W. Paige & Co.). President JNO. E. WILLIAME, Pres't Metropolitan Bank, Treas EDGAR E. HULLEY, Secretary.

I OCATED ON THE RANCH OF OJAI, NEAR Beneaventura, in Sauta Barbara County, California, In the summer of 1864, Prof. Sillinan examined this locality, and, in a letter, dated at Buenaventura. Santa Harbara county, July 2, 1864, he thus communicates the results of his observations upon the property now owned by the California Privolcum Company, the purchase of which he strongly recommended to his friends in New York: chieb be strongly recommended to his friends in New Cork:

"The priperty covers an area of 18,000 (eighteen thou and) acres in one body on which are at present at lease westly natural o'll wells, some of them of the larges ze. Artesian wells will be fruitful aimus a doubtle line of thirthen miles, say for at least twentw-five influs his rear extent. The Ranch is an old Spanish grant of our leasures of land, lately confirmed, and of portice tite. It has, as I said, about eighteen thousand acres it to fit hinest lami, attacted by four rivers and mose urine, in a right line, in all, near thirthen miles. As sand, it its a vicindit issuite; but its galact is the allumbabilities wealth in the best of oil."

In a letter written to the company since his return In a letter withen to the company since his return, feeb in 1869, he may:
"I am happy to be able to confirm, at this date, what here rain in my published report respecting the extradinary character and high value of the estate on which our cot pany is established."
